

ASIA POLICY ASSEMBLY

Asia's Global Influence How Is It Exercised? What Does It Mean?

June 17–18, 2010

Ronald Reagan Building and International Trade Center in Washington, D.C.

The Asia Policy Assembly will bring together experts from the academic, philanthropic, and policymaking communities to address issues of strategic importance to U.S. interests in Asia.

Need | As Asia integrates with the rest of the world, we have to understand the full extent and limitations of Asia's global influence, and learn how Asian states define their global responsibilities. The combination of Asia's openness, dynamic growth, relative stability, and huge population means that no major global problem can be solved without Asian cooperation and support.

Opportunity | The Asia Policy Assembly is the forum for Asia Studies scholars and policymakers to discuss important Asia policy issues. The Assembly will feature keynote addresses by senior policy officials and leading figures in international affairs.

The National Bureau of Asian Research (NBR) and the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars are co-hosting the Assembly, which is the signature event of the National Asia Research Program (NARP).
